

Design an Aligned Tutorial

Overview of Design Process

Using the backward design process, write your learning objectives, assessment, practice, and content first. Then, reorder into an effective instructional experience for your learners. Use a storyboard to draw out the tutorial as it will appear to your learners.

Tutorial Learning Events

Example

Learning Objective: Students will recall that librarians will help them with their research, including finding articles and books, and with citation styles.

Assessment: Multiple-choice and fill-in-the-blank quiz.

Practice: Unscored trivia game. Similar questions to assessment, but different wording and answer formats.

Content: Short narrated video describing how librarians can help students.
